Safdarjung strike off after assurance

The medical students' strike at Safdarjung Hospital was called off yesterday evening after the administration assured them and resident doctors, who joined the agitation, that their demands would be met.

Karan Vats, the president of striking students, and Chandra Bhan, president of resident doctors association, told that management had assured them their demands like availability of drinking water, air-conditioning in the unventilated classes and a lift in the four-storeyed building would be met in a couple of days. However, it would still take some time to shift the students to a new hostel as the building was not ready yet.

Though Vats said they would continue with silent protests and resort to strike again if the management did not stick to its word.

It was a day of suffering for hundreds of patients who had turned up at the hospital for treatment as striking students, supported by resident doctors, locked up the OPD and sat on protest outside it, disrupting the patient care.
