Delhi Metro railway information now on mobile phones, net

Commuters will now be able to access all information related to the Delhi Metro railway routes and schedules on their mobile phones and online.

Delhi Metro Rail Corporation and Google India have partnered through Google Transit to provide complete information on schedules and routes on mobile devices with Google Maps for Mobile.

The free service will allow commuters to check the latest updates to make route changes on-the-go.

The service is also expected to come to the aid of visitors who will arrive in the city during the Commonwealth Games in October. Google Transit will also offer information on new routes that will get added to the metro network.

Poor response to JAC bandh call

There was poor response to the strike call given by the Telangana JAC demanding the formation of Telangana State and opposing the Justice Srikrishna Committee at the Singareni Collieries Company Limited (SCCL) on Thursday.

Barring the RG-3 division, where the Telangana Boggu Ghani Karmika Sangham (TBGKS), affiliated to the Telangana Rashtra Samithi (TRS) which had a sway, the strike had no impact in other divisions of Ramagundam and the Open Cast projects of the region.

The coal production was hampered only in some mines in the morning shift and it was in full-swing in the Open cast projects. The police took into custody the TGBKS and IFTU leaders at some of the mines in the region.

Trader rescued, 4 Kashmiris held

Patna police on Saturday rescued an abducted trader Rajendra Sah and arrested four Kashmiri youths in this connection.

Sah, a resident of Dumri village in Begusarai district, dealt in steel business in Jammu and Kashmir. He had some money-related dispute with some locals there, sources said.

On Saturday morning, some Kashmiri youths reached Dumri, abducted Sah and escaped towards Patna. As Sah's family members informed local police, Begusarai SP Vinay Kumar contacted Patna SP (city) Manu Maharaj.

H1N1 claimed 3 lives every day in January

More than three people died of swine flu in Gujarat every single day of January this year, according to a revelation made in the Gujarat Assembly on Thursday. And this, after the state government invoked the Epidemic Control Act for the first time on August 18 last year.

Also in January, 564 people tested H1N1 positive. To another question on the total number of swine flu deaths last year, the state health department said 117 had died till December 31, 2009. The other question asked was on the number of deaths till January 31, 2010 where the statistic revealed was 236 persons.

The total number of positive cases till December 31 last year was 697, which shot up to a staggering 1,261 by January 31 this year.

26 children, 37 women killed as 15,000 stampede in Kunda (Pratapgarh), UP ashram

In one of the worst stampedes in Uttar Pradesh, 63 people -- 26 children and 37 women -- were killed and more than 300 injured when volunteers at godman Kripaluji Maharaj's ashram in Kunda used lathis to beat back the unmanageable crowds on Thursday afternoon.

According to police, around 15,000 people had gathered at the Ram Janki Mandir compound at the ashram -- also known as Bhakti Dham -- for a bhandara (religious feast) when the organizers started distributing free utensils and clothes. The ashram volunteers, in order to control the surging crowds, tried to push them back just when the steel gate leading to the temple collapsed, leading to a mad scramble. There was deafening commotion, and, as it usually happens in such tragedies, women and children were the worst victims.

Law & OrderTsunami alert rattles quake-hit Chileans

Chile was hit by more powerful aftershocks that sent terrified people scrambling for the hills in tsunami-prone coastal areas, as relief aid began pouring in to towns and cities cleared of unrest and looting by a surge of troops.

Four days after giant waves swept hundreds to their death, two powerful aftershocks, with magnitudes of 5.9 and 6.0, triggered a brief new tsunami warning yesterday along the stretch of Chile's central coast worst hit on Saturday.

Two Pentagon security officers injured in shooting outside Metro station, US

A gunman coolly drew a weapon from his pocket and opened fire at the teeming subway entrance to the Pentagon complex on Thursday evening, wounding two police officers before being shot and critically wounded.

The suspect, believed to be a US citizen, walked up to a security checkpoint at the Pentagon in an apparent attempt to get inside the massively fortified Defense Department headquarters, at about 6:40pm (2340 GMT).
