Maoists on hunt for police informers

Maoists are seeking to destroy the counter-insurgency network built up by police in Jangalmahal.

In a recent statement, Maoist leaders said they have initiated a special drive to "identify and annihilate" police moles, who have been passing on information about rebel activities to police and CPM. They also admitted that some of these moles posed as Maoist supporters. A fresh offensive is being prepared as part of the rebels' "cleansing operation".

Over the past month, following the encounter in Hatilot forest in March, the Red brigade has gone on a killing spree and gunned down around 20 people in Jhargram and Lalgarh.

Jeweller's negligence, prime cause for theft

The recent heist at a jewellery shop at Chellampatti near Usilampatti is not all about a daring burglary. Police investigation has revealed that the jeweller had not adopted the barest minimum measures to secure the valuables.

Initially, it was reported that gold and silver worth Rs. 60 lakh were burgled at night. However, after verification of receipts the police have arrived at the loss of gold to the tune of 160 sovereigns and not 360 sovereigns as claimed by the owner.

The burglars had gained entry into the shop after slightly opening the shutter. The police suspect that they should have squeezed themselves into the shop after lying down on the floor. Neither an anti-burglary alarm nor any closed circuit television (CCTV) camera was there. The owner had not employed even a night watchman.

New volcanic ash alert: Spain to close three airports

Three airports in northwestern Spain will be closed today due to the arrival of a huge new cloud of ash from an Icelandic volcano which shut down Europe's skies last month, aviation authority AENA said.

The airport at Santiago de Compostela, a major pilgrimage centre, will close at 2:00 am (0000 GMT) while those at La Coruna and Vigo will close from 6:30 am local time, it said.

Europe's air traffic closed for up to a week last month following the eruption of Iceland's Eyjafjoell volcano, stranding tens of thousands of passengers. It was the biggest aerial shutdown in Europe since World War II.
